NEW NURSERY AT MILAN BERGAMO AIRPORT

Milan Bergamo Airport has opened a new nursery in the departures terminal dedicated to families with new-born babies and very young children, located at the end of the section which leads to the retail area.

The area has been conceived with a wider-ranging vision than simple changing facilities, integrating services which correspond to the requirements of people travelling with young children.

In this light, a welcoming and comfortable environment has been created, with a travel theme evoked through rounded airplanes, complete with their characteristic trails, drawn on the walls at the entrance, a large mirror which increases the sensation of space, a stylised and LED-backlit planisphere set into the wood over the spacious changing table, which can hold up to three babies at the same time and which has a built-in nappy bin and space underneath for luggage. There is a toilet suitable for use by young children, two wash basins with tops in Corian (also known as “acrylic stone”), one of which is at a lower height to allow even smaller children to wash their hands and faces by themselves. The nursery has been designed to recreate a homely atmosphere, providing the accessibility and practicality that mothers need, and allowing young passengers to be enraptured by the charming and imaginative atmosphere.
