Air Albania launches a new route to Tirana

Milan Bergamo Airport has welcomed the first flight by the airline Air Albania, arriving from Tirana.

The Albanian national airline, founded by Turkish Airlines and the Albanian government in 2018, operates the connection to Tirana utilising an Airbus A319 with 128 passenger seats, 8 seats in business class + 120 seats in economy class, alternating with a 151-seat Boeing 737-800 in a configuration with 16 seats in business class + 135 in economy class.

The flights offered by Air Albania represent an addition to those operated by the airlines Blue Panorama and Wizz Air. The network of flights connecting the Albanian capital to Milan Bergamo Airport has thus been extended, both in terms of frequency and flight schedules, and as regards the pricing structure.
